In this final stanza we see the narrator's anger at his loss come through. He curses a god that he seemingly has a lack of faith in. Throughout On A Portrait Of A Deaf Man he eschews the divine in favour of the idea that death is a very permanent reality. He espouses the idea there is no beyond by emphasising the physical nature of a persons death.

And of all the things the stepmom wanting a portrait of her dead (and good for nothing) stepson, well, that took the cake! Excellent writing skills kept this book from being in poor taste, despite the murder, and well . . . only in the south (and y'all know, I AM a southerner), can this stuff happen.
